

Rebates offered by insurance intermediaries

Working Lady	I want to buy life insurance for my family An agent told me he could personally offer me a discount
	Is that okay?
Smart tips for policy holders
Narrator	When selling life insurance agents are prohibited from offering discounts personally As a smart consumer don't just focus on price when buying insurance
	You should pay attention to the coverage and other terms and conditions too Look for an insurance company with a good reputation and an intermediary who is professional and ethical This way, your interests can be protected
